

PHOTOPLAY FEATURES

Pluragraph Pictures Today.

The Pluragraph Five Star motion picture will be shown for the first time in this city at the National Theater today at 3 and 8:15 p.m. The program consists of five unusual feature pictures—"Red Cross Work in Army, Navy, Mines"; "The Purlined Letter"; "Edgar Allan Poe's Famous Story"; "Edith Wynne Matthison, Fuller Mellish and Martin Sabine in the cast; "A Summer Day With Ella Wheeler Wilcox," showing scenes in and around the home of the popular authoress; a picture founded on Richard Harding Davis' latest story, "The Boy Scout," featuring Lucey Cotton and with Eddie Chapman in the title role, with an encampment of 250 Boy Scouts, and the beautiful mythological picture, "Diana, the Huntress," with Paul Swan, Baroness Dewitz, Lieut. Percy Richards and Florence Fleming Noyes dancing girls. The production of "Diana," marks a decided step in the possibilities of motion picture photography, owing to the wonderful beautiful coloring of E. B. Hochstetter. Special music will be played by the New National orchestra.

Loew's Columbia.

Pauline Frederick, the emotional actress who has won fame by her presentation of "Zaza" and "Bella Donna," will be pictured at Loew's Columbia Theater the first three days of this week in the Famous Players Film Company's adaptation of "Lydia Gilmore," the emotional drama by Henry Arthur Jones. In this production Miss Frederick departs from the adventures of her previous roles, which have characterized her last two performances and plays the faithful wife and loving mother, who goes through unpeppable mental agony to shield her husband after he has proven unfaithful to her.

The story of an opera singer's career is depicted in the second Geraldine Farrar photoplay production, "The Temptation," which will be the attraction of the last four days of the week, beginning Thursday morning. This thrilling drama was especially written for Miss Farrar by Hector Turnbull, and was produced by Cecil B. De Mille, who was responsible for the success of Miss Farrar's first picture, "Carmen." The scenes of this photoplay are laid in New York City—some in the Plaza-Carlton Hotel and others in the great opera house. The story of the play has to do with the struggles of a young café singer to become an operatic star and yet retain the love and respect of her fiancé, a young violinist and composer. The picture cast includes Pedro de Cordoba, Theodore Roberts, Elsie Jane Wilson, Raymond Hatton, Ernest Joy and Anita King. Next week's photoplay attractions will be "The Tongues of Men," featuring opportunities to which business men seem to be awakening. Course tickets will be placed on sale January 3.

Flonzaley Quartet, January 21.

Friday afternoon, January 21, is the date for the seventh of T. Arthur Smith's "Ten Star Concerts," when the Famous Flonzaley Quartet and the eminent pianist, Ernest Hutcheson, will be heard in the New National Theater. The coming of this great organization has become one of the annual musical treats of the capital, and this year the added attraction promises to make it one of the truly enjoyable musical happenings of the winter.

De Diaghileff's Ballet Russe. Serge de Diaghileff's Ballet Russe gave a gala presentation at the Geneva Opera House, Switzerland, in aid of the Russian war victims, under the patronage of the Russian ambassador December 20.

The performance, states the cable to John Brown, business controller of the Metropolitan, included the ballets, "Carnaval," "Midnight Sun," "Prince Igor," and a suite from "L'Oiseau de Feu." The house was sold out the day the event was advertised, and the cable states, the performance was a triumph. "The Midnight Sun," it continues, will probably be the greatest success of the tour. Masina, the young dancer, was recalled ten times; a new young star, Macietzowa, was continually interrupted by applause, and Bolin was a great success. Others who participated were Tchernichowa, Sokolova, Wassilowska and another new dancer, who took the part of Harlequin in "Carnaval." Idzikowski.
